

ABSTRACT

A new and distinct cultivar of New Guinea Impatiens plant named 'Balcelichey' characterized by its large bright red-colored flowers, dark green-colored foliage, uniform medium upright, mounded growth habit, and excellent 5 basal branching.